

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

In this chapter, the writer provides the conclusion of the study and she also offers some suggestions based on the data analysis.

5.1 Conclusion

After analysing and then discussing about the errors committed by the students in writing descriptive text, it can be concluded that:

1. The errors made by the students were omission, addition, misformation and misordering. The number of the errors in grammar was 466. The frequency of errors in grammar was omission 229 (49.14 %), addition error is 13 (2.78 %), misformation error is 176 (37.76 %) and misordering error is 48 (10, 30 %).
2. The most common error made by the students in writing descriptive text is omission then followed by misformation, misordering and then addition error.

5.2 Suggestion

Beside concludes the study the writer would like to give some suggestions to the teacher and the students that might be useful in improving the grammatical errors in writing especially in writing descriptive text.

1. For the teacher

The teacher should teach the students how to create a good text in English especially descriptive text and before that the teacher should teach the students about the subject and verb agreement, how to make good sentences based on the tenses are used and the teacher should give the students chance to practice it.

2. For the students

The students should learn how to write a good text and focus on grammar especially tenses and the subject and verb agreement.
